

November's President's Newsletter

After a brief respite, it is time to get it on again!

The golf course is scheduled to open on Sunday, November 8. It is anticipated the first two to three weeks will be cart path only. As we all know, this to allow the over seeding to take proper root before we begin to gouge it out, one swing at a time.

While the course was closed for over seeding everyone at the course has been very busy getting the course and facilities ready for the coming season. Kevin and his crew have done a great job preparing the tee boxes, fairways and greens and the fairway bunkers on 5 and 7 have been rejuvenated. As a direct result of the drought conditions the decision was made to not over seed the rough. We have all played this course with dormant roughs in the past. It will provide for some amusing golf and, even more incentive to keep the ball in the field of play.

As for the golf, our first TLQMC event is the Welcome Back/Wright Memorial Tournament on November 16. If you haven't already signed up, don't hesitate. The signup sheet is on our website. This tournament will be closely followed by one of your biggest tournaments every year, the Holiday Tournament scheduled for December 7. Don't drag your feet signing up for this tournament as it usually fills up pretty quickly. Of course, from the first Monday the course reopens, we will enjoy our weekly TLQMC events.

So at this point, you have been reminded about the first two tournaments, our weekly play and, you have should have received your notice from our Membership Director, Pat Martin, that it is time to renew your TLQMC membership for next year. The only thing left to do is to let you know what it will cost for golf this year.
